

The predicted (approximate) values for pressure match reasonably to the exact values, as shown in the plot above. The  $p$  values appear to match closer for larger values of  $x_1$ .